CUSTOMS OFFICER CUT BACK

THE GOVERNMENT are so concerned with Britain's drug problem that they are cutting back on customs officers!

On top of that they are claiming that the Customs and Excise are boosting the number of officers dealing with drug smuggling when in reality the numbers are being reduced.

The customs staff at Dover and Heathrow, the principal gateways into Britain for the drug smuggler, are to be cut by 96 this year. Tony Lewis, a drugs officer from the Society of Civil and Public Servants said, "While on paper the Government may claim there are more drugs officers in fact there is not enough money to employ them. Britain is now regarded as a joke by smugglers. They no longer even bother to take measures to smuggle the drugs.

"FOR THE past two years the National Front has been sinking roots in local communities. The time has now come to use those roots to help the community.

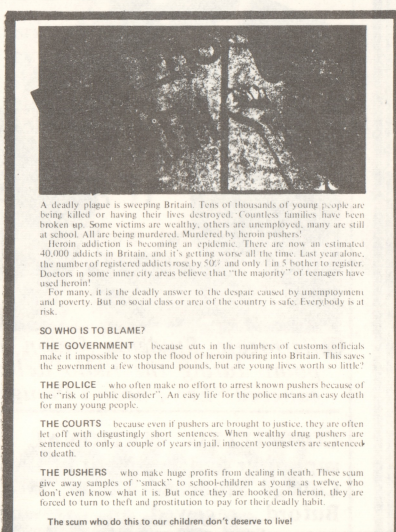

It is the duty of every National Front member to be on the look-out for people in their locality pushing drugs and if they know the person concerned then report the name and address of that person to the National Front Head Office who will forward the information to the police".

That was Nick Griffin, Deputy Chairman of the National Front launching the Young National Front Campaign against Drug Abuse at a YNF conference in Central London on Saturday May 11th. Mr Griffin also went on to outline a series of pickets and leafletting sessions outside clubs and discos where drugs are known to be sold. A campaign of harassment was also planned against drug pushers who openly sell their wares in seedier parts of Britain's cities, "Direct confrontation on the streets with these purveyors of death in their haunts such as Picadilly and Leicester Square tube stations must be a priority" Mr Griffin told the audience.

Delegates from as far as Edinburgh, Newcastle and Blackpool attended the conference and heard a variety of speakers talking on subjects affecting young people in the National Front.

ACHIEVED

Chairman of the Young National Front, Martin Wingfield, reported that the YNF Schools' Campaign launched in February had achieved great results and more young people were showing interest in the National Front than at any other time in the party's history. He unveiled an ambitious list of projects for the YNF ranging from new YNF leaflets and a regular NF students' paper to a programme of football competitions and music concerts.

Patrick Harrington, of the North London Polytechnic, gave an interesting and amusing talk on his experiences of the past 18 months and received the largest round of applause of the day from the YNF delegates.

Nick Griffin finished off the morning session with a talk on the need to educate and train those young new recruits coming into the party.

After lunch the Young National Front Secretariat was appointed. Michael Fishwick from Norwich was nominated as the YNF Organiser and Susan Inglis from Hounslow as the secretary. Other committee members included Andrew Dewan (Central London), John Bertenshaw (Manchester), Jeremy Drew (Lambeth) and Ian Havard (Newham).

The afternoon session was completed with the launch of the Drugs Campaign with Nick Griffin announcing a 'Day of Action' pushing the anti-drug message in Britain's schools on Thursday June 6th and two new National Front posters and a National Front leaflet were unveiled.

● "EXPOSE THE PUSHERS" posters 30 for £1.00.

The 'Cancer' Carriers

WITH OUR customs so ineffective to stop the flood of hard drugs into Britain it's up to the British people to fight a rearguard action by exposing the criminals who push hard drugs in our towns and cities.

If you know the name and address of anyone who is pushing hard drugs then phone 01-684-0271 and we will pass the information onto the police.

THREATENED

The National Front believes that those who care about the welfare of the British people must be at the forefront in the campaign against drugs. The lives of a whole generation are being threatened by this cancer that is slowly eating away at our country's youth. By exposing the pushers, the carriers of this disease, you can help Britain's youth find its real identity again.

AIDING THE DICTATORS

POPPING THROUGH LETTERBOXES up and down the country during May was a little envelope from an organisation called Christian Aid. They ask the recipient to give money to the starving of the Third World.

1985 could possibly be labelled the Year of the Third World with financial aid reaching record proportions boosted by the proceeds from records such as 'Feed the World'.

It's a fact that throughout the Third World this is suffering on a scale that probably very few British people could comprehend.

THE SUFFERING CONTINUES

It's also a fact that Britain has responded in contributing to this aid through both Government and charities. Yet despite this record aid the suffering continues and each year a new tragedy hits the headlines. So what becomes obvious is that the massive financial and material aid that is being sent is not being used for the right purpose.

Take Ethiopia for instance; source of the latest tragedy. It's a fact that between 1978 and 1982 Ethiopia received over £1 Billion dollars worth of Western Aid. President Mengistu could have used this to grow more food, instead he spent it on re-arming his forces to conduct a civil war within his country.

WHERE THE BLAME LIES

Dr. Keith Griffin, president of Magdalen College, Oxford, has no doubt where the blame lies. In 1982 he went to Ethiopia to study the economy. In his report he said that the famine was foreseen but the remedies ignored. It was not the drought that caused starvation but bad government.

Bad government is something that is synonymous with African Governments. That's because out of the 41 major black African states only 7 allow opposition parties and only once has a ruler been removed by the ballot box and that was in Mauritius.

The problems of the Third World are not primarily economic but political. The problems of the Third World are tyrannical rulers, tribal and civil wars, corrupt officials, waste, extortion and incompetence.

Before you go giving your hard earned money to organisations like Christian Aid it's worth bearing in mind that money, genuinely well intentioned for Third World aid, in reality is making the suffering worse. It's that aid which will help prop up the black dictatorships putting off the day when proper, democratic Third World governments can take the necessary steps to solve their own problems.

NF News seeks to persuade its readers to feel angry about the evils of multi-racialism and to direct their anger solely at the corrupt politicians who created a racial problem in Britain, and not to the Immigrant people in general. "Racialism" is NOT unlawful - only "racial hatred".

ADDRESS:.....

LEFT-WING agitators together with students from as far away as Reading and London held a march and rally in Harrogate, North Yorkshire, on May 6th in their latest episode of persecution against former National Front chairman, Andrew Brons.

Their campaign is to try to bully North Yorkshire County Council into terminating the contract of employment of Mr Brons who is a lecturer in politics and government at Harrogate College.

ABSURD

In a letter to the Harrogate Advertiser, Mr Brons answered some of the absurd allegations being made against him by opponents.

"The National Front is not, of course, 'a fascist' party. It has consistently supported parliamentary democracy including the rights of its political opponents.

The NF has consistently opposed acts of terrorism and is the only party to advocate the death penalty for those convicted of them.

The Home Office investigation into racial attacks in 1982 found that there was no evidence that they had been orchestrated by the NF".

The persecution of a lone lecturer by a mob of 300 is typical of the intolerance that can be expected from today's left-wing extremists. Intolerance that erupted into violence when the vast majority of Harrogate's students refused to join the demonstration. Police were forced to make five arrests before the marchers were dispersed, put on their coaches and escorted out of town.

Buford backs Brons on 'Friday File'

Harrogate Students Union President, Jane Buford, forcefully makes a point during the radio debate. Black student Everal Walsh appears to concede "Err. I hadn't thought of that".

COMMITTED NATIONAL Front supporter and President of Harrogate College Students' Union, Miss Jane Buford, received an overwhelming vote of confidence from her fellow students when an attempt by the National Union of Students to remove her from office was defeated by 66 votes to 11.

Miss Buford also put over a convincing argument for National Front policies on Radio Aire's Friday File programme. Despite protests from Leeds City Council, Leeds Students Union and a picket at the radio station's studios, the programme went ahead with the presenter James Whale interviewing Miss Buford, Black student, Everal Walsh and Andrew Michaelson, a reporter with the Jewish Telegraph. The programme received a record number of phone calls with the public wanting to ask Jane more about the National Front.

After the programme was over presenter James Whale launched a bitter attack on the extremists who had tried to sabotage Friday File and put it off the air.

"One wonders what sort of freedom of speech would be allowed if they were in power" he told the Pudsey Advertiser.

PAKI-BASHER

BRITAIN'S first black council leader, Guyana-born Bernie Grant is facing a charge of causing actual bodily harm to an Asian council worker.

The 41 year-old leader of Labour controlled Haringey council, who works as a £10,000 a year race relations advisor for Newham Council's housing department, is alleged to have beaten up Gulam Mayete during a meeting of the Black Trade Union-

POETRY AND NATIONALISM

MANY NATIONALISTS probably have a very negative view of poetry. It is seen as being totally unrelated to the real world.

However, National Front News has just come across a poetry booklet entitled 1957 - Before The Storm. This booklet stands in stark contrast to the pseudo-Red rubbish pumped out by the literary Establishment.

The poems contained in 1957 - Before The Storm are grouped within the three themes of Love, War and Life.

The first theme, as its title implies, contains purely romantic works which combine a genuine depth of feeling with beautiful imagery.

The second theme War, is a forthright attack on the terrible disaster of the First World War. It is evident that 1957 - Before The Storm believes that this war was directly responsible for many of the problems which face us today. Wasted sacrifice, jingoistic platitudes and mindless slaughter are dealt with in poems that vary in mood from sad contemplation through to biting sarcasm.

In the final section - Life - are poems of social observation. Some are funny. Some are deeply moving. Class stereotyping, State power and the mass conformity of Godless Marxism are all attacked.

All in all 1957 - Before The Storm is a poetry booklet that all Nationalists should buy. It is available from Nationalist Books, 50 Pawns Road, Croydon, Surrey CR0 2QF. - price 75p plus 25p post and packaging.

Diary

I'VE HEARD from the Department of Public Prosecutions that no action will be taken over my complaint against a senior police officer from South Yorkshire concerning an incident after the NF's abortive Bloody Sunday March in January 1984.

I can't say that I'm too upset with the news. Having to testify about events that took place 18 months earlier can pose its problems.

What I shall never forget however, is the look on the faces of those police officers present at the incident when that senior officer flipped and started laying into the NF members with his truncheon as they tried to board their coach. It was a look that said it all. It was a look that said "Christ, what the hell is he doing". It was a look that left me in no doubt that the officer concerned had flagrantly overstepped the mark.

GARY LENNON, 20, from Stourbridge was fined £200 with £24 costs by the town's magistrates for walking down Stourbridge High Street in an unusual manner.

His legs were stiff and raised to the level of his knee as he walked. His right arm was also stiff, raised at right angles to the Stourbridge pavement.

Presiding magistrate, Mr Don Jones, told Lennon, "we will not tolerate this sort of behaviour in the High Street. It's becoming all too prevalent".

John Cleese at the Ministry of Silly Walks said that he had reported the matter to the Commission For Pedestrian Equality claiming this was another case of victimisation of high-steppers and a prime example of inherent slouchism in the British judicial system.

AFTER CROSSKEY; Borzello! Remember Mr Crosskey (Diary April 85) who was so desperate to cover up black crime that he complained to the Press Council because the Kensington News and Post had revealed that it was a gang of black muggers who had attacked white passengers in a London underground train after the Notting Hill Carnival.

Well now there's a Mr R. Borzello who has objected to three national daily papers and a London evening paper mentioning the colour of a black youth who raped five women and hacked another woman to death with a broken bottle.

Mr Borzello obviously has his reasons for wanting to cover up such a vicious example of black crime from the British people. If you would like to know those reasons then give him a ring on 01-226 8941 or drop him a line at 46, Knowl Road, London N1.

ONE OF the so-called exposes by the infamous Panorama programme on the Tory right was that Tory Action referred to the Chancellor of the Exchequer as Latvian Lawson and the Home Secretary as Lithuanian Leon in their internal bulletins.

It was at first thought that these references were anti-semitic, but now it appears that they were just terms of affection. When Tory Action polled its members as to whom they would like to see follow Mrs Thatcher as Prime Minister, 56% voted for Mr Tebbit while in second place was none other than Latvian Lawson himself polling a more than respectable 35% of the vote.

QUOTE OF THE MONTH

"The Jewish method of animal slaughter has been found to be the most humane method".

Dr. Jacob Gewirtz, executive director of the group relations department of the Board of Deputies of British Jews. Thursday April 18th 1985.

SOFTENING UP THE BRITISH FOR MORE BOAT PEOPLE

THE BRITISH people are being softened up to take another influx of Vietnamese boat people.

A Common's Report recommends that Britain takes more refugees as it "might persuade other countries to accept more of the 12,000 Vietnamese at present in re-settlement camps in Hong Kong".

On Tuesday 14th May on BBC Radio 4 in the Today programme,

Tory MP for Anglesey Keith Best started to pull the heartstrings concerning the plight of the boat people living in Hong Kong and how 'Britain had an obligation'.

National Front News believes with 3½ million unemployed Britain has no obligation to anyone but the British people. What Keith Best neatly evades mentioning is that the boat people left Vietnam of their own accord. During the American occupation the people who are now boat people were then the country's richest, making their money out of gaming dens, drugs, the black market and prostitution. They left Vietnam because under the new regime they wouldn't be able to operate these rackets.

Britain has no obligation to these people moral or otherwise.

● Boat People. A picture to create sympathy.

BENGALI MOSQUE BEFORE BRITISH FAMILIES

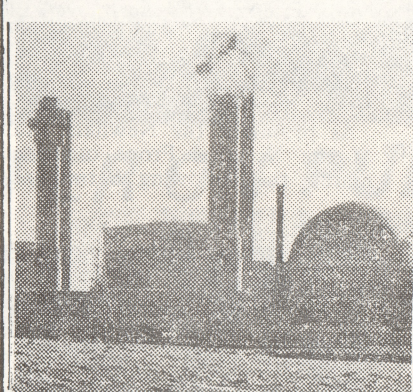

BRITISH FAMILIES in Tower Hamlets, some who have been on the housing waiting list for over three years, will still have to wait for a home as the GLC have decided to convert the latest home available, a four bedroom flat, into a mosque.

Bengalis on the Ocean Estate have demanded the prayer centre be set up despite the fact that there is a large mosque less than five minutes walk from the estate in Whitechapel Road.

Local residents although outraged by the council's action are wary about complaining too loudly. As one rightly acknowledged in a local paper "Criticism of any steps taken for the benefit of ethnic minorities is invariably tagged racist".

National Front News believes the need for housing families is much greater than the need to find Bengalis a place to pray. If the residents of Ocean Estate are concerned about protesting to the council then they should contact Tower Hamlets National Front. Local organiser Vic Clarke will be only too pleased to take up their cause!

MORE WORRIES FOR THE PEOPLE OF WINFRITH

AUTHORITIES IN charge of the Winfrith nuclear power station in Dorset are privately concerned about the state of the plant's radio-active waste disposal pipeline according to confidential minutes of a meeting at the Central Electricity Generating Board's headquarters.

The minutes note, "Mr Sharpe (Chairman of the meeting) reported that although the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority's public stance was that they were satisfied about the condition of their active effluent pipeline, privately they were worried. They had surveyed the line and were apparently concerned about its condition".

LEUKAEMIA

Such private worries expressed by Mr David Sharpe of the CEBG's systems strategy building generation section will mean further concern for the already worried residents of the villages near Winfrith where the child leukaemia rate is already 10 times the national average.

National Front News believes that until the UKAEA can be shown to be privately satisfied with the condition of their active waste disposal pipeline, as well as publicly, Winfrith should be closed down.

The health and welfare of the people of Dorset is more important than any considerations, financial or otherwise, in the nuclear energy field.

PERVERTING MINDS OF SCHOOLCHILDREN

LABOUR CONTROLLED Greenwich council in South London has approved plans to put lessons about homosexuality on school timetables.

The lessons aim "to reflect the riches and diversity of homosexual experience".

National Front News believes it should be a criminal offence to pervert children's minds. Teachers who indulge in such lessons "to reflect the riches and diversity of homosexual experience" must themselves be queer and presumably have some qualifications to teach the subject.

It is dangerous that children at school can be influenced by such people. If any of these lessons go ahead, parents should not hesitate in contacting Greenwich police.

Ethnic demos on the rates

WEST MIDLANDS ratepayers will have to pay £3,000 to send 26 coachloads of blacks and Asians to London for an ethnic minority protest against the abolition of the West Midlands County Council, as well as finding £90,000 for the "West Midlands Anti-Racist Year".

Sikh Extremists put West Country Jobs in Jeopardy

HUNDREDS OF jobs at Westlands Helicopters in Yeovil, Somerset have been put in jeopardy thanks to Sikh extremists living in Britain.

India has pulled out of a £65 million deal to buy the helicopters because they are unhappy about the way the British Government stood by and allowed Sikhs in Britain to celebrate the murder of Mrs Gandhi.

The order for 21 helicopters for off-shore oil exploration will now almost certainly go to France.

In accordance with GLC guidelines NF News starts its own...

ETHNIC MONITORING!

NO WONDER these two black women are smiling. They are well on the way to new jobs as personnel officers because they have been given preferential treatment by the GLC.

The Second Chance Training Scheme gives women, black people and other 'disadvantaged' groups priority over ordinary British folk by giving them extra training for specialised jobs.

Sikh extremists make a programme called 'Khalsa Voice' in a Bayswater studio. Such propaganda broadcasts have cost Britain a £65 million order from India and put in jeopardy another from the same country for £175 million.

ON MAY 1st Jamaican, Diane Abbot, became Britain's first full-time black woman trade union official.

Her union, the ACTT, which represents TV cameramen and technicians has appointed her equality officer and she has already announced that she intends to get more black people jobs in the TV industry.

On May 21st Mr Muhammad Ajeeb from Kashmir became Lord Mayor of Bradford.

Britain's first Sikh magistrate, Mrs Ajeet Harbans Singh. She will sit in the Middlesex area.

On May 1st Archdeacon Wilfred Wood became Suffragan Bishop of Croydon. He said that there must be no area of life where there wasn't a black presence.

COLOUR BEFORE QUALIFICATION

THE LABOUR-controlled Camden Council in North London is to employ black and ethnic minority social workers solely on the basis of their colour and not on qualifications.

Camden's director of social services, Patrick Kodikara, himself coloured, said a person's colour will be more important than qualifications.

The National Front believes that putting blacks first in jobs will lead to a lowering of standards. In a field such as that of the social worker where even qualified people make mistakes, as in the cases of Maria Colwell and Jasmine Beckford, a policy of positive discrimination puts innocent lives at risk.

Britain's Christian Heritage

A RELIGIOUS group fighting for the survival of Britain's Christian Heritage and British race and culture has hit out at Christians working for a multi-racial society.

PROTEST

Enfield Christian Nationalists wrote in protest to the Enfield Christian Council after race relations were discussed at their AGM.

Secretary of the Christian Council, Mrs Margaret Jepson, told the Weekly Herald on May 2nd that Christian Nationalists had been in touch with the council before but that she was unsure of their membership or whether they enjoyed widespread support from Christians in the borough.

On Reflection with Ted Budden

It's happened already

AS WE ALL KNOW, Bradford headmaster Ray Honeyford has been under fire recently for being less than totally obsequious towards the Asian immigrants who have colonised and virtually taken over the city.

One of the complaints against Mr Honeyford was that he had said that it was pointless trying to reason with Asian parents because they became hysterical.

I did observe, true enough, that in a recent TV programme about the affair, all the Asian parents interviewed seemed to be in a state of twitching, sweating, eye-bulging hysteria.

Possibly I'm in need of one of Bradford Council's "re-education courses" which all Bradford's teachers are now forced to attend in order that they may learn to appreciate the fine qualities of the sooty colonisers.

It seems to be working too. One wretched female head teacher was paraded before the cameras to declare how grateful she was for being sent on the course as it had made her aware of her racist shortcomings. She had also been made aware, for the first time how racist some children's literature was — even the books of Enid Blyton.

She did not however wish to ban

Blyton's books because the children loved them so. She did suggest, though, that perhaps they might be "rewritten".

Yegods! George Orwell, though shouldst live today!

OF THE MIND

1984 has come and gone and our media verbalisers have declared Orwell wrong.

But he was right. The tyranny has come. It is the tyranny of the mind. The tyranny of the new queer orthodoxy. The tyranny of the book burners, of the culture distorters. The tyranny of "liberal" Big Brother that has rotted the soul of our nation.

Where Orwell was wrong, of course, was in failing to realise that when the tyranny came most of the proles would be too stupid or cowardly to acknowledge the fact.

Going home

I WAS interested to read that BBC Chairman, Stuart Young, has recently flown to Israel. He was not, as you might have supposed, going home for the holidays but was engaged on Mission Impossible — namely to explain to the Jews that the BBC is not "anti-Israeli."

Now, strangely enough, I've never noticed that the BBC was anti-Israeli. Come to that, I've always supposed that it was Israeli.

PECCADILLOES

I imagine that what has upset the Jews is the occasional passing references made by inexperienced reporters to certain momentary errors of judgement committed by Israeli stormtroopers in Lebanon — you know, those little peccadilloes that ignorant and uncouth people call atrocities.

I'm sure that Stuart, as a pillar of the British Establishment, a founder member of the Finchley junta, and a former Governor of Tel Aviv University, will be able to assure the Jews that the BBC will most certainly not, in future, be anti-Israeli. In fact, I'm prepared to bet that he can.

Strangely enough, only last year Stuart flew on a similar mission to Riyadh because the Saudis suspected him of being pro-Jewish. I really can't imagine where people get these strange ideas.

Still, it is a trifle aggravating to have him jetting around the world buttering up various species of alien at our expense. Perhaps he might be better occupied answering the legitimate complaints of the people who actually pay the bills.

Let us hope that much travelled Mr Young will, in the near future, find time to hop on a bus down to Pawsons Road to explain to the National Front why the BBC is anti-British or, more importantly, so obviously non-British.

For, to my jaundiced eye, the credits(?) that follow BBC programmes read like extracts from the telephone directories of Tel Aviv and Riyadh.

Rabbits could take lessons

YOU PROBABLY remember the Bangladesh disaster. Which one, you ask? Why, take your pick. They have one every year. Famine, fire, flood — they have the lot, at least once a year. Very profitable it's been too.

Western "liberal" slobes have assured us over the years that "the plight of Bangladesh has touched the conscience of the world!" Well, it has certainly touched the pockets of Western taxpayers for aid has flooded in with the inevitable result.

As Winston Churchill wryly observed, "we feed, they breed". Indeed we do and they most certainly have. Bangladesh is now the most densely populated country in the world.

Of course, we've done our bit to ease their plight by allowing them to colonise the East End of London where they and their tribes of children have done so much to enrich our culture.

They've also spilled over the Bangladesh border into the neighbouring Indian state of Assam. Unfortunately, the Assamese do not share our fine Western "liberal" values. They do not fear the righteous wrath of the Rev Jim Thompson, Bishop of Stepney. They do not look the other way and pretend that it hasn't happened. They do not stand idly by when their fellow countrymen are evicted from their homes for daring to object to the alien presence.

Instead the Assamese have massacred the invaders.

SENSE OF OUTRAGE

Now I'm not suggesting that the British should massacre the Bengalis. I am suggesting that they display just a little sense of outrage at the loss of their identity.

Perhaps the Assamese remember what the modern British have forgotten — that the plot of land we call our country is ours only for so long as we have the guts to defend it.

ARRESTS: ASIAN-57, NAT. FRONT-Nil.

THE TALE OF 3 MARCHES!

IN APRIL and May this year there were three marches in Newham, all on consecutive Saturdays. Two were violent and ended with attacks on the local police station and one was peaceful.

The police made no attempt to ban two but the third was only able to go ahead because of a process of blackmail over the police. One march looked smart and dignified, two were made up of rabble.

violence with a number of police put in hospital the last of the wet (but clean) demonstrators eventually stood up and went home.

During this sit-down protest a number of local police constables wanted to arrest individual Asians, but were told not to by senior officers on the scene. One local constable commented: "If these were any other group, such as the miners, we could have waded in and made mass arrests — we surrendered the streets to these demonstrators".

As promised the Newham Branch of the National Front organised a march the following Saturday 4th ● Newham National Front marching through Canning Town. The public gave them a warm welcome.

Yes, you've guessed it, the peaceful one was a march by local NF members, the other two were by the Asian "Newham 7 Defence Committee".

Last year a pub was attacked by a mob and a number of Asians were arrested and charged with varying offences. Instead of waiting for the due process of the law, a "defence committee" was immediately set up to protest against the alleged discrimination.

One of their first activities was to announce a march through Newham, starting off in a predominantly Asian area, but then marching past the almost all-White West Ham football ground. Despite this "provocation" there was never any suggestion of a ban on this march. When East London National Front objected and announced that they would march in protest the Public Order and Community Relations Squad at Scotland Yard hit the roof. Deputy Assistant Commissioner Innes was in such a state when he met Joe Pearce at Scotland Yard that, inadvertently, he admitted that he was prepared to agree to almost anything on condition the NF agreed not to march. In his annoyance he blurted out that if the NF would call off its march he would let them march the following week.

After the meeting and subsequent internal discussions it was agreed that that was precisely what the NF would do. Consequently a march was announced for the following week.

On the day of the Asian march the predictable happened. Outside Forest Gate police station the Asians stopped to hand in a petition, one or two demonstrators were arrested for attacking police officers and the whole march sat down and refused to move. What a shame it was raining. Three hours later and after serious

REDS FAIL TO STOP FRONT!

by Our Man on Tyneside

ALMOST 100 members and supporters of the National Front packed a hall in Newcastle to hear a rousing speech by the Chairman of the Party Ian Anderson on May 9th.

The meeting was widely advertised a month in advance by the use of leaflets and through the local monthly bulletin, the Newcastle Patriot. On the evening of the meeting the local newspapers called on people to join the demonstration at our re-direction point and the usual rabble of degenerates gathered to scream and shout as our members were pointed to another re-direction point! The looks on the faces of the councillors and students who were demonstrating when the numbers of mainly young people who were attending the meeting reached fifty and then eighty and finally eighty-six made the effort worthwhile in itself.

FAMILIAR CHANTS

Finally the meeting started on time with the National Front inside the hall and the members of the 'Tyne-side and District Anti-Fascist Association' trying to get the bus to the meeting. After half an hour the now familiar chants and moronic threats could be heard faintly in the breeze as the meeting continued in fine style. First of all the meeting was addressed by Gordon Stridiron who is currently facing three separate charges under the Race Act, then by Newcastle Organiser Colin Todd who told the audience that the last month had seen no less than eleven papersales and that never before in the short eighteen years of the NF's existence had so much Front literature been distributed in a single month.

INCREASINGLY HOSTILE

After a collection that raised more than £100 pounds from the supporters present, most of whom are unemployed, Ian Anderson gave a fine speech on the ways in which the Party must now develop and expand in the face of an increasingly hostile and vindictive establishment. The meeting ended with a spontaneous chant of 'National Front' and all of those present retired to a City Centre pub for a well-deserved pint of S&N's finest.

The local press and our other opponents must wonder where the hell they are going wrong. Three times in the last three months they have tried to whip up public opinion against us and three times they have failed miserably. The National Front is here to stay!

WHITE PAPER ON PUBLIC ORDER IS A FURTHER STEP TOWARDS A POLICE STATE

ON THURSDAY 16th May Home Secretary, Leon Brittan, published a White Paper on public order. The recommendations of this White Paper go a long way towards making Britain a Police State, and the reasons for the Government taking such steps is, without a doubt, the growth and increase in activity, seen in the last 18 months, by the National Front.

Over the last 8 years the National Front has had a large majority of its marches banned. The marches were banned by the Home Secretary with an order that banned all marches in that particular area. The new bill gives...

"Police power to ban specific marches, as well as the present powers for blanket bans and bans on certain types of marches".

So the Police can be selective in which marches they ban. Can you guess whose march will be banned if both an immigrant defence group and the National Front wanted to march in the same place on the same day? No prizes for the right answer!

SIDE-STEPPED

In recent years the National Front has successfully side-stepped the Government's politically motivated ban on our marches by moving them at the last minute. This year already we have moved a Leicester march to Market Harborough, a Woolwich march to Dartford and a Nottingham march to Loughborough, each time thwarting Leon Brittan's attempts to stop the NF taking to the streets. The new recommendations will severely hinder the Front's efforts to re-organise marches at the last minute by...

"A new requirement of seven days notice to the police of marches and processions".

It has been impossible for some years now for the National Front to march through certain areas of Britain where there is a high number of coloured immigrants, now minorities can determine where and when NF marches take place. The new bill gives...

"Police powers to impose restrictions on marches if they fear the intimidation of individuals".

So now the police can re-route or call off a march while in progress if blacks and Asians are on the streets and "might feel intimidated by a National Front presence".

Each of the White Paper proposals gives far-reaching power to the police to limit personal and political freedom. The basic crucial right to freedom of speech and assembly is again ignored in the recommendation that gives...

"A new power for the police to control the size, location and duration of static demonstrations and meetings".

Assembly for demonstrations has always been a safeguard in defending 'freedom of expression'. Even when National Front marches have been successfully banned, demonstrations and rallies have always been allowed. Now even this freedom has been removed.

National Front members now face the real prospect of arrest for taking part in marches if the police choose to terminate them en route while...

"A penalty of three months in prison and a £1,000 fine awaits people who organise or incite the ation intended to gag the National Front and stop the party from communicating to the British people the truth concerning coloured immigration. The new bill states...

● Leon Brittan. Designed the White Paper to stop the NF.

"The government has decided that the present offence of incitement to racial hatred should be recast to penalise conduct which is either likely to stir up racial hatred or is intended to. A new offence of possessing racially inflammatory material for distribution is to be introduced".

Leon Brittan, and his masters in Woburn House, will no doubt be rubbing their hands at these new denials of freedoms to the National Front. Their joy and satisfaction, however, may be short-lived.

As back in the early 1980's when the National Front learnt to side-step march bans, today we must learn to side-step these new draconian laws. The Government might force us to tone down our publications with regard to reporting the extent of black crime. They may be able to force our marches off the streets and ban our demonstrations, but what they can't do is to come into our private homes and private meetings and stop us talking. They can pass law after law until they are blue in the face, but what they cannot pass laws to stop is the growing number of National Front members passing on 'the knowledge of British Nationalism' by word of mouth to a growing number of British people who are showing interest in the National Front.

POLITICAL ARENA

These new laws against the National Front shows that the Establishment is petrified by the fact that the NF is firmly back in the political arena after years in the political wilderness.

National Front members should not be despondent. The government has been forced into suppressing our freedom in a last ditch attempt to silence opposition to coloured immigration. History stands witness that no people can be completely silenced by tyrannical laws. The right, the freedom and the will of the British people will triumph and in the decades to come the corruption and Levantine influence that riddles today's Establishment will become evident to all.

● Public Rallies. To become a thing of the past as police now have the power to ban them as well as marches.

breaking of police conditions for marches and meetings".

These new restrictions alone could not stop the National Front from getting its views over to the British people so the proposals include a new catch-all recommend-

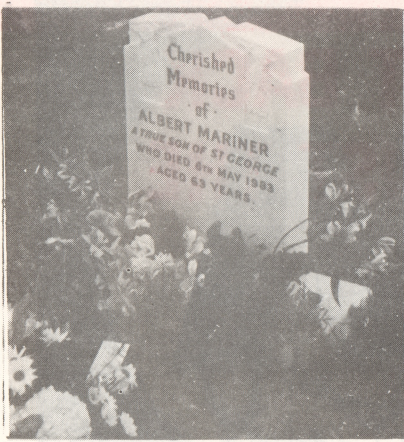

Anything that mentions coloured immigrants in a less than favourable light is deemed today to 'stir up racial hatred'. National Front election leaflets, newspapers, magazines, posters, stickers and books would, in the mind of today's multi-racialists, 'stir up racial hatred'.

● Shape of things to come. A NF candidate at an election. Not allowed to march, hold meetings or put out election addresses.

● No-go areas for the British people. The White Paper makes it illegal for them to march or demonstrate in immigrant areas.

Not Forgotten: ALBERT MARINER

SUNDAY 5TH MAY saw the second wreath laying ceremony to remember our fallen Comrade, Albert Mariner.

Around 25 people gathered in the East London cemetery where Albert is buried. Sue Clapp, Treasurer of Albert's unit - Tower Hamlets - laid as wreath on behalf of his Branch Comrades. A wreath was also laid on behalf of all his friends and colleagues.

NF Deputy Chairman, Nick Griffin, also laid a wreath on behalf of the Party. In his brief speech, Nick called on everybody present to recall their memories of Albert - fondly remembered as a courageous British Nationalist.

After the ceremony, Vic Clarke, an official of Tower Hamlets handed over a cheque of £46.24 to John Field, Treasurer of the Nationalist Welfare Association, which was the balance from Albert Mariner's grave stone appeal.

Nick Griffin lays flowers at Albert's grave.

Grant Delay costs Ratepayers

RATEPAYERS IN Birmingham will have to pay a £7,000 bill owed to the Inland Revenue by two workers at a black community centre in the city.

The debt has been run-up by West Midland's councillor James Hunte and his wife Sharon, directors of the £220,000 Mohammed Ali Centre. The council's Labour controlled economic development committee agreed behind closed doors to pay the bill to stop the centre's property being seized by the taxman.

Councillor Hunte told the committee that the problems had arose because he was waiting the arrival of a £400,000 grant which the city's council had promised.

Hunte. Isn't it nice to get a grant to pay your taxes!

IT'S THE same councillor Hunte who is seeking the aid of a witch doctor to put a spell on Mrs Thatcher to stop the Abolition Bill.

He told reporters, "I think if a witch doctor puts a spell on the Prime Minister it might give her a psychological shock and make her realise that no good can come out of what she is doing".

The Common Market threatens British freedom...

GET BRITAIN OUT
National Front, 50 Pawsons Road,
Croydon, Surrey.

"We, alone amongst the parties, advocate and have always advocated, complete and unqualified withdrawal from the Common Market."

Membership of the Market has been destructive of our National and Parliamentary Sovereignty - particularly the provisions that the EEC legislation should become part of our law, without being enacted by Parliament, and that it should take precedence over Acts of Parliament; and the provision that the ultimate authority to interpret EEC legislation is the Common Market 'Court of Justice'. These would, by themselves, justify our withdrawal but our membership has also been economically disastrous. It has contributed to the destruction of important sections of British industry - by flooding our country with imports; by exacting disproportionately high contributions to the Common Agricultural Fund; by allowing EEC fishermen to plunder our fishstock; and by allowing the export of our capital to the Continent.

The 'freedom of movement of labour' provision of the Treaty opens our doors to the whole populations of the countries of the EEC - including the French overseas departments in the Third World.

We reject the notion that opposition to the Common Market is synonymous with being Anti-European. We recognise the cultural heritage that we share as well as those differences that separate us. We would work for the closest political and cultural relationships consistent with national sovereignty."

DESTRUCTION FOR NOTHING

FOUR MILLION tonnes more wheat and barley than Britain needs or can export will be produced by farmers this year.

The surplus will go into store, joining a similar amount of unwanted grain left over from 1984. The cost for storing the surplus will be borne by the British taxpayer and totals £100 million every 12 months, and that's on top of the £358 million spent in 1984 on subsidising our farmers to grow this unwanted crop.

Not only is the Common Market directing Britain's farmers into producing grain that nobody wants, it is also encouraging them, by such a policy, to destroy Britain's meadows, marshlands and hedgerows to reach targets of production the only purpose of which is to fill vast grain storage vats throughout Europe.

MADNESS

In four years time the European Community will have a staggering 89 million tonnes of unwanted grain. A policy which encourages such a waste of a food source is typical of Common Market madness.

EVEN MORE COMMON MARKET MADNESS

* All 434 Euro-MP's are having to give up their seats in the European Assembly's debating chamber in Strasbourg, so that new seats just 10cms. (four inches narrower) can be installed.

Reason: To make room for another 84 members from Spain and Portugal, who are due to arrive next year. Cost: estimated at £1.5m.

While all this is happening, a 600-seat chamber built specially for the Assembly is lying idle in Luxembourg - because the Euro-MP's voted against using it!

* The EEC's "butter mountain" contains enough butter to circle the world six times.

* Letters sent from one EEC office in Brussels to another office in the same city often get routed via the Community's offices in Luxembourg.

* For EEC purposes, goats are classified as sheep...

* Trade ministers from all the EEC countries meet every year in Brussels to discuss how the quota for pineapple chunks is to be split.

* A group of Euro-MP's were recently invited to dinner with President Mitterand in Strasbourg. They admitted later that they would not normally have qualified for expenses for attending - so they just set up an official meeting, just before the dinner, which enabled them to claim a total of £4,700 for travel and interpreter's costs...

* The EEC suggested Britain should drop the tradition of having the reigning monarch's head on stamps.

THE NATIONAL FRONT AND THE COMMON MARKET

THE NATIONAL Coal Board seems intent on by-passing the colliery review procedures to force the speedy closure of two pits in the North-East.

3,000 jobs will be lost at Bates Colliery and Blyth and Horden Colliery near Easington in Durham.

Mr Dennis Murphy, President of Northumberland NUM said, "We thought they would at least operate the review procedures, but they are talking about closing by next Christmas. That's a shotgun decision and the implementation of Macgregor's closure plan.

NEW FACES

Mr Ervin Lyons, lodge secretary at Horden was devastated by the news "I can't understand it. We've opened two new faces since the strike and the pit has never been working better".

The closure of perfectly good mines, the loss of jobs and the destruction of communities just because it's cheaper to import foreign coal is not only bad government but a crime against the British people.

Blacks boot out do-gooders!

MARGARET WELLER, a central adult basic education co-ordinator for Sheffield's adult education service got a rude awakening when in her work capacity she attended a seminar called "Racism, Research and the Black Community" held by the Association of African, Caribbean and Asian Academics (AACAA).

RACIST

Ms Weller, who is white, was not allowed to join the AACAA because it's a racist organisation with a membership open only to people of African Caribbean or Asian Background.

As she went to her seat one 'academic' demanded "Who said you could come in here?", while other 'academics' shouted "Get her out of here. She's not one of us. We don't want your type here. Go on, go away".

A tearful Ms Weller left, heartbroken that her 'do-gooding' got such a reception. Let's hope other multi-racialist meddlers get the same sort of response, you never know, it might bring them to their senses.

BILDERBERGERS BEFORE IRISH

MAY'S IRISH Democrat bemoans the fact that Dr. Fitzgerald flew to America to attend a biennial meeting of the Bilderberg Group, "a secret society composed of top politicians, top businessmen and top bankers".

Irish Democrat surmises that the Bilderberg Group will no doubt be congratulating the Irish Premier for allowing Spain into the EEC even though it will wreck Irish fishing and for not asking for a £700 million hand out for it, which the Greeks got.

The report concludes "One of the features of modern society is that despite the facade of democracy, the political leaders of the West take their orders from American Big Business. The lives of ordinary Irish people are ordered by faceless men in distant countries who they have never even heard of let alone seen".

It's rewarding to know that at least one newspaper in the 'Emerald Isle' is clued up on the power of International Finance. It's strange though that they don't mention the racial origin of those who make up the Bilderberg Group. Possibly they don't know, but more probably they're just being coy!

SPIRIT OF VE DAY

Oven Jibe Puts Homos to Flight

FIGHTING BROKE out during a V.E. Day celebration in France.

There was a violent confrontation between former concentration camp inmates and a group of homo-sexuals in the eastern French town of Becsancon.

The homosexuals were attacked by the inmates as they laid a wreath at the monument to the victims of Nazism. French reporters at the scene said the inmates yelled insults at the homosexuals including "They should have all been exterminated" and "Open up the ovens and throw them in".

VICTIM OF BITBURG

ONE CASUALTY of the V.E. Day celebrations will be President Reagan's communication chief Patrick Buchanan.

American TV revealed that during the furore over the visit to Germany's Bitburg Cemetery; Mr Buchanan wrote a personal memo to himself about the trip saying "We must not bow to Jewish pressure".

Such comeuppance from a presidential aid will of course not be tolerated and White House sources confidently predict that Mr Buchanan will be looking for alternative employment before the end of the year.

Thank you for remembering

Dear NF News,
Thank you on behalf of my father for your article on "Our Forgotten Army".

My father fought in Burma in the Royal Norfolk Regiment and feels he has been forgotten by this government. He is 65 and suffers from Parkinson's Disease, he had to retire from work through ill-health and now just gets a measly £35.00 a week from the DHSS.

Why do they forget people like my father, and rabbit on about how good the bloody Japs are in their non-strike record or how cheap their cars are.

Margaret Thatcher and her bunch of cronies might do well to remember the Burma Star motto: WHEN YOU GO HOME TELL THEM THAT FOR THEIR TOMORROW WE GAVE OUR TODAY!

FRONT FOIL BAN

DESPITE bans and local regulations designed to obstruct our marches, the National Front marched through Loughborough to celebrate St. George's Day on Saturday 27th April.

About 400 NF members and supporters evaded these restrictions to march through the town centre, albeit in pouring rain.

Originally the march had been planned for the Arnold district of Nottingham, where it was to be in support of the NF candidate in the local elections there. Four days before the march the police, desperate to prevent further race riots in the city, announced that they had applied for a ban on the NF march.

When this was telephoned through to NF officials in London it was implied that the ban would extend to all of Nottingham, however on checking it was discovered that it was only for the area where the NF march was to take place. The City centre, where local "ethnic minority groups" had announced they would hold a counter-march was not banned.

Ian Anderson immediately put in an application for an NF march right through the centre of Nottingham. To no one's great surprise a Public Order Act ban was forthcoming in just 24 hours.

SWITCH

The day before the march at about 5.00p.m. the Derbyshire police were phoned and told that the NF had decided to switch the march to Derby - a route was agreed with a local Inspector. On the Saturday morning groups of members left their various home towns starting from about 6.00a.m. onwards. At 8.00a.m. the Derbyshire police were phoned to check that there were no problems - they had however been very busy and had discovered that a recent by-law insisted on 7 days notice of all marches. (now we know where the Home Secretary, Leon Brittan got the idea from).

Virtually any organisation other than the NF would by now give up and go home. However in view of previous experiences several other venues had already been discussed. One in particular had been held in reserve - Loughborough - where a small unit of the National Front exists.

At 8.30a.m. the Leicestershire police were phoned up and told that the National NF's St George's Day parade would be held that afternoon in Loughborough. With no time to apply for a ban the march was assured of going ahead. Negotiations as to the route were carried on by means of phone calls while vehicles from all over the country were heading for a pre-determined re-direction point on the M1 motorway.

Wind problems for flag ladies.

At 2.30p.m. the 400 NF supporters together with two drum corps and led by the flag party and national banner was given the order to march off. The route went through the town centre where we were warmly welcomed by many onlookers and where a group of about 30 bedraggled Reds mouthed their abuse at us.

Meanwhile in Nottingham a larger bunch of Reds were left to get wet in the rain and vent their frustration on the local police force, thus adding to the impact of the already substantial local publicity, which has boosted a number of East Midlands NF units.

TISSUE OF LIES FROM TV-AM

ON THE morning of 15th May TV-AM transmitted a 15 minute attack on the National Front while denying the NF the right of reply.

The previous day Mr Martin Frezell, the TV-AM reporter phoned our bookshop and informed us that he would be conducting an interview with a Mr Gerry Gable and invited NF Chairman, Ian Anderson, to take part in such an interview. At about 3.00 p.m. he phoned back and asked to do the interview at the NF bookshop, this was readily agreed. At 5.30 we phoned him to discover that he was comfortably sitting back at his Camden Lock offices and he agreed that he had no intention of interviewing a representative of the National Front.

It was then pointed out to him that we were well aware of the type of allegations which Mr Gable was likely to make, we further pointed out Mr Gable's record of criminality and his record of being a Communist party candidate. In view of this he was informed that if the programme was going to bear any semblance of fairness the National Front ought to be represented. Mr Frezell disagreed and consequently no representative of the National Front was invited.

The programme was screened and as predicted a number of outrageous allegations were made. These included:

- ★ 1) That uniformed Italians had attended one of our demonstrations - This is obviously a lie, the police are in attendance at our demonstrations by prior agreement with us and they are hardly likely to stand by if uniformed Italians are present, as this would be a clear breach of the 1936 Public Order Act.

Martin Wingfield leaves TV-AM after lodging a formal complaint.

- ★ 2) It was alleged that exiled Italians attended our training seminars to give lectures on becoming political soldiers. This is a complete lie.
- ★ 3) It was alleged that the National Front is no longer interested in the ballot box but instead we are building bridges with terrorist organisations. In fact the National Front continues, as always, to fight elections and we do not have any links with any terrorist organisations.
- ★ 4) It was alleged that we recruit youngsters from the age of 12. This is clearly absurd as we have a self-imposed minimum age of 14 for membership of the Young National Front.

There were many other unfounded allegations too numerous to specify. The National Front condemns terrorism in all its forms, the NF has no links with terrorist organisations and the programme was an outrageous and unfounded smear upon the National Front.

Gerry Gable
He made outrageous allegations.

Despite making over a dozen calls to TV-AM and leaving messages for the programme controller none of our calls were returned. Finally late on the afternoon of May 15th a member of the NF's Legal Department contacted TV-AM and was informed that no right of reply would be given to the National Front and any complaints should be made in writing.

Question: Why did TV-AM think it necessary to broadcast a programme that was just a tissue of lies to smear the National Front.
Answer: Because the National Front is back in the political arena again and getting its message across to the British public.

MORE ANTI-NF SMEARS

ON WEDNESDAY 24th April, Roger Todd, in the Daily Mirror, reported that "A squad of police soccer-spies followed Portsmouth's 200-strong group of National Front-linked trouble makers".

The report didn't mention what the connection was that linked the supporters to the National Front and didn't, indeed, mention the NF again in the story.

WHAT'S THIS, IS HE FINALLY WAKING-UP?

THE DAILY Star on Wednesday 15th reported that a group of soccer troublemakers were travelling to Rotterdam to cause trouble at the European Cup Winners Cup Final between Everton and Rapid Vienna.

The report revealed "some of whom are reckoned to belong to the fascist National Front". Who reckoned the paper doesn't say!

The report also claims that the same group were responsible for "appalling racial attacks on England's black players". So singing racist ditties now constitutes racial attacks!

A STICKER bearing the words Aston Villa NF, scraped from a lavatory wall is apparently enough evidence to blame the National Front for the end of season soccer riot at the Birmingham City/Leeds Utd game.

That's the monstrous claim being made by Dennis Howell, Labour MP for Birmingham Small Heath and former Sports Minister. Monstrous it maybe, but every single newspaper in the West Midlands carried the story in banner headlines linking the NF with soccer violence.

What a NF/Aston Villa sticker has to do with a riot between Birmingham City and Leeds, two different clubs from an even different division Mr Howell didn't say.

FIGHT BACK AGAINST THE

SMEARMONGERS

HELP THE National Front fight back against the smearmongers by supporting your local National Front branch.

Local NF units all over the country are sinking roots in local communities by getting involved in local politics.

It's when the British people meet the NF members on their doorstep they realise what a tissue of lies is being told about the National Front.

The National Front is active all over the United Kingdom with units in most major towns. You may be surprised to see how close you are to a unit of the National Front, but even if you don't live in a town where there is a unit, why not get in touch with us, we can probably put you in touch with local members.
